Access to membership directories. The CBA lists members and contact information on their website and strives to get their members' contact information on various other area lists and publications.

A Competitive advantage. Taking advantage of association networking opportunities and resources can help you earn and maintain an edge over non-member competitors.

Opportunities to give back to the community. You can use your membership to share your knowledge with other member businesses and promote a stronger sense of community cooperation. The CBA involves itself in various events to help enrich the community.

Networking opportunities. Perhaps the most important benefit of the CBA is that we provide you with an excellent opportunity to network with other professionals and entrepreneurs in your field.

Knowledge. Odds are that someone, somewhere, in the CBA has already discovered the solution to a vexing problem in your particular niche. Meet-and-greets, newsletters and forums create opportunities to share those best practices and fresh ideas. Additionally, by networking, small-business owners may issues which could impact their bottom lines.

An opportunity to enhance your reputation. The CBA attempts to bolster the reputations of all their members through marketing, community awareness and promoting local purchasing practices.

Make personal connections. By participating in the CBA's meetings, small businesses can gain access to potential new customers in the area.

Gain political clout and expertise. The CBA brings businesses together, turning one small voice into a persuasive, collective shout. The CBA also maintains strong ties with the Township of Upper Chichester and regularly meets with their various representatives.
